Subject: Attempting to schedule a discussion about Vanadium

Good morning Darren,

I wanted to check-in with you to see when you and any additional member of your team (Michael) may be available for a 30 min discussion on Vanadium.

The major discussion points would preferably cover general insights on vanadium detection in a drinking water distribution system and common errors in vanadium detection and quantification at the level of a laboratory.

Please let me know your availability and I will schedule a meeting preferably before the end of this week.

Sincerely,

Jean Pierre Nshimyimana, Ph.D.
